++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Cloudier and milder today but staying mostly dry.

Today:
Today will be much cloudier than yesterday, but a few brighter intervals are likely. Remaining dry for most of Wales but the odd patch of light rain is possible, mainly in the north. Feeling milder with a light westerly breeze. Maximum temperature 12 deg C (54 deg F).

Tonight:
Staying generally cloudy overnight with a few spots of rain at times. Some clearer spells are likely, especially in the east of Wales. Mild and becoming breezier. Minimum temperature 7 deg C (45 deg F).

Saturday:
Becoming largely dry with bright spells during the morning, but increasingly windy too. Rain arriving in the northwest by lunchtime, with some rain reaching southeast Wales by the evening. Mild. Maximum temperature 14 deg C (57 deg F).

Outlook for Sunday to Tuesday:
Cooler on Sunday but largely dry with bright spells, though remaining windy. Milder and cloudier on Monday with patchy rain in the west. Rain perhaps developing more widely on Tuesday.
